ARDA PROGRAM IN EDSON AREA

Uneconomic Farms Being Purchased

Approximately 200 Edson-Hinton-Whitecourt area farms will be purchased under the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act in the next five years.

The farms, which are considered too small to be economic units, will be consolidated into larger units through resale or lease to neighboring farmers.

A few farms have already been purchased, and application for purchase of 33 more are now being processed. From 40 to 50 will be bought in the next two years, provincial ARDA director R. G. Sterling said recently.

The program, which is part of the federal-provincial rural development agreement, is aimed at creating economic farms and includes subsidized re-training for farm people who decide to sell their farm under the ARDA plan.

Some of the farmers involved will be purchased outright by the province, through ARDA, while in other cases loans will be made available to farmers to enable them to buy neighboring land.

Farewell Party Fetes Camerons

On the evening of August 27th a large number of friends gathered in the Cardium Room of the Drayton Valley Hotel to honor Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Cameron who are leaving this week for Los Angeles.

The evening took the form of a dinner dance with Dr. Ian Waugh as master of ceremonies. A very lovely meal was served by the hotel staff and the Lorenz Orchestra provided the music for dancing.

During the evening the master of ceremonies presented Dr. and Mrs. Cameron with an evening bag of money. The Camerons thanked everyone present.

Among those attending were Dr. Cameron's father from Calgary. Due to the rail strike, Mrs. Cameron's mother, Mrs. Johnston of Yorkton, Saskatchewan was unable to attend.

Dr. Cameron is planning on taking a post graduate course in physiology. As this is a lengthy course, the Cameron's expect to be in Los Angeles for several years.

Dr. Cameron has been associated with Dr. I. G. Waugh of Drayton Valley.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Primary hypertension or high blood pressure affects about 13 out of every 1,000 Canadians, and causes excessive damage to the blood vessels of the heart, brain and kidneys, the Canadian Medical Association reports.

Pheasants Released Tuesday In F.G.A. Stocking Program

Hunters in the area will enjoy pheasant shooting in future years if a stocking program undertaken by the Pembina Oilfield Fish and Game Association proves successful.

In co-operation with representatives of the provincial government FGA members took part in the raising and releasing of 180 pheasants in the district Tuesday, August 23rd. The birds, which arrived here as day-old chicks on June 14th were raised on the farm of Nick Urchyshyn, west of Drayton Valley.

This was the fourth release of pheasants in the area in recent years and it is expected that this year's birds will stand a better chance of surviving as suitable cover and more cleared land and grain fields are available to them. The birds were released at a number of locations throughout the district where conditions appeared favorable.

The birds were blood tested for pullorum, a poultry disease usually fatal to small chicks, and banded before release.

Taking part in the operation, along with several members of the F.G.A., were: Jerry Pelchat, Superintendent of the Alberta Fish and Wildlife department's game hatchery at Brooks; Dave Unger, District Fish and Wildlife officer, Evansburg; and Ken Rowe a poultry specialist with the Poultry Division of the provincial government's Livestock Division.

Marvin Grue, president of the Pembina Oilfield Fish and Game Association, is asking for the assistance of district residents in reporting deaths of any of the pheasants in order to check on this program.

Anyone who finds a dead pheasant in the immediate Drayton Valley area or who accidently kills one with a car of by any other means is asked to pick up the bird and contact Mr. Grue. Tests and analyses of dead birds will help the Fish and Wildlife Division determine the progress being made by the birds in their new habitat.

This does not apply to hunters who take birds during the open season but all are banded and hunters are asked to turn in the bands.

Mr. Grue's phone number is 542-2159 if anyone wishes information on the pheasant stocking program or has anything to report.

Ken Rowe and Marvin Grue (above) blood test the young pheasants and in the lower photo Jerry Pelchat bands the birds and crates them for transportation and release. One hundred and eighty of the birds were released last week in a co-operative program undertaken by the Pembina Oilfield Fish and Game Association and the provincial government Fish and Wildlife Division.

FISH AND GAME EXTENDS THANKS

The Pembina Oilfield Fish and Game Association, through its president, Marvin Grue, extended thanks this week to all who assisted in the recent pheasant raising program.

Special thanks were tendered to Nick, May and Leonard Urchyshyn who undertook the major part of the work in raising the birds and to Electrical Contractors and Elmer Madsen for help in providing electrical wiring.

Bar-Nees Transport Moving To New Site

Bar-Nees Transport Ltd., which has operated in Drayton Valley for the past six years, has announced its intention to move the head office of the company to Calgary and the active office to High Level, Alberta.

The move is necessitated by a change in the work area of the company to the new Rainbow oilfield according to Barney Germaniuk who is leaving with his family to reside in Calgary from where he will direct the company's operations.

Company trucks are presently employed in hauling pipe from High Level to Peace River Airport where it is loaded in Hercules aircraft and flown into the Rainbow field.

First commercial airlift in Canada by the $3½-million Lockheed Hercules turbo-prop freight aircraft started from Peace River airport to Rainbow Lake in northwest Alberta July 13 with a load of drilling supplies for Banff Oil

CONSTRUCTION AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

Hon. Gordon E. Taylor, Alberta Minister of Highways, says that progress on the construction of main highways is generally ahead of that of one year ago.

To date, 49% of the grading program has been completed. (150.9 miles have been constructed); last year at this time only 39% of the grading was completed.

60% of the base-course work has been completed or 185.45 miles; last year only 45% of the base-course work was done at this time.

52% of the asphaltic plant mix surfacing has been completed in the amount of 118.7 miles; last year 58% of the program was completed at this time.

77% of the seal-coat work or 198.8 miles has been completed; last year only 75% was completed at this time.

There was a marked increase in progress during the last week as previously weather conditions seriously delayed construction. This year 1,113 shifts have been lost due to rain compared to 1,248 shifts a year ago.

"Warm sunny weather throughout September and October is required for the completion of our program" Mr. Taylor stated.

FASHION CONSULTANT TO THE 160 SINGER CENTERS IN CANADA.

Are you Athletic? You don't have to be to wear the new Athletic Stripes . . . in contrasting colours accenting hipline, V neck and sleeves of the greatest Fall knits. Best colors in these sporty stripes are navy, grape or olive . . . all with putty stripes.

What's in a Bond? (I don't mean James) A bonded fabric has been head locked to a smooth, silky backing such as tricot or taffeta, for form an "instant" lining. The happy results are built-in shape retention and wrinkle resistance. The fabric will not fray or stretch and requires little pressing. Bonded lace is a fashionable favorite . . . from cute to elegant in cotton, Orlon* or Terylene*. Bonding eliminates all the old bugaboos about sewing lace.

By 1970 "Terylene" will have a new name: Fortrel*. Same fabric, different name. The change will be gradual, beginning this Fall. Remember, when you see the name Fortrel*, it's your old friend Terylene* with exactly the same wonderful wash and wear qualities.

Plastic Dresses? That's right. Daniel Hechter may design himself out of a job. Started as a joke, it's now getting serious. Bands of darker plastic afford a certain degree of modesty. Care to try sewing one for yourself, as a joke of course? Use a long stitch and avoid ripping, as marks remain. Choose a simple pattern with the eased seams and use a fine sharp needle.

Young Parisians have a way of knowing what's right and coming . . . sometimes even before the designers themselves, so it's important to know what they are wearing and thinking now. "L'Uniforme Parisienne" (that's what Lafayette calls it) is a slightly fitted shift with high, shallow scooped neckline and narrow sleeveless shoulders. Sounds like the relief we are looking for after all the ruffles, sleeves, colors and prints we've been wearing lately . . . elegant simplicity that emphasizes the wearer instead of the ensemble.

Soft in the Head aptly describes the newest, smartest hats. Berets, pouffed domes softly gathered into a narrow headband, scarf hats and mobster caps carry out the theme. The clever gal who sews, can run up a hat to match every outfit from the leftovers (many chic hat patterns available). A couturier touch that spells elegance!

Bar-Nees Moving Out

Banff plans to have 7½ million pounds of supplies for five rigs flown in during the next three weeks, enough to support its accelerated drilling program for the remainder of the year.

With Banff's 5,000 foot all-weather runway in Rainbow field already in operation, unit costs will be cheaper than if transported over a hard-to-maintain summer road into this muskeg area.

Airlifted supplies consist of diesel fuel, casing pipe, mud and weight material, line pipe, tubing and miscellaneous production equipment. Contractor Pacific Western Airlines expected to have the haul completed within six weeks, but Banff now thinks the job can be done in as little as four weeks.

Banff intends to drill 10 development and exploratory wells each quarter for the rest of the year. Each rig can complete a well every six weeks. Of the oil pools so far discovered by the company in the district, Rainbow field A and B pools, plus the Saka and Tsuhae pools have been connected to the 20-inch Rainbow Nipisi oil pipeline.

Our Alberta Heritage

GREAT NORTHWEST PIONEER VILLAGE

The Great Northwest Pioneer Village is more than a museum — it is a monument to the pride one man has in our Alberta heritage. That man is Earl Danard, son of a pioneer family. He has assembled a fascinating collection of thousands of relics and artifacts, housed in twenty-five original pioneer buildings. Mr. Danard's unique collection includes antique cars and engines, cutters and buggies, the first Indian school (built on the Winterburn Reserve by Rev. A. B. Baird in 1883), and an authentic Greek Orthodox chapel that accommodates just two worshippers.
This living historical village represents a tremendous outlay of interest, time and effort in creating a unique tribute to the pioneer history of our Alberta.

Take your family out to visit the Great Northwest Pioneer Village soon. It's located just twenty-three miles west of Edmonton on Highway 16.

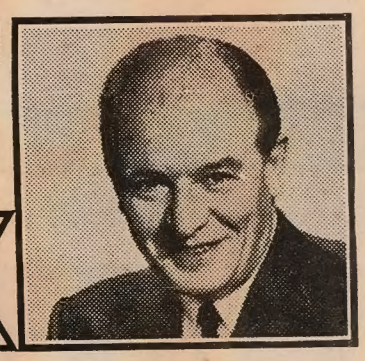
Centennial Report



1867 1967

by JOHN W. FISHER
CENTENNIAL COMMISSIONER

I mentioned the old French Fortress of Louisbourg, in a recent report, among places to visit during Centennial Year.

Built by the French, at a cost of ten million dollars during the reign of Louis XV, the Fortress of Louisbourg on Cape Breton Island passed back and forth between French and British hands, underwent two sieges and finally was blown up by British demolition troops in 1760.

Developments in the 18th century which, in the long run, resulted in Canada eventually becoming one country, have connections with Louisbourg. The federal government, therefore, through the Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources, is restoring a large part of the fortress, now a national historic park.

At the Centennial Commission we think of the restoration as a Centennial project although perhaps we can't argue it is such on the basis of technicalities because it was started in 1961 and will continue until the early 1970's, at a cost over the years of at least $12,000,000.

The old city and a large part of the battle ground outside the ruined walls were set aside by the government as a national historic site in 1928. During 1935-36 a museum was built facing the site of the citadel and it contains memoentoes presented by citizens and relics which have been unearthed in the ruins of the fortress. The site was made a national historic park in 1940 and thousands of visitors see it every year.

The new project for restoration of the fortress will reconstruct the main features of fortifications, the Chateau St. Louis, a representative selection of smaller buildings, homes and harbor works. Some outlying features such as siege works also are to be restored.

As well as Canada, the New England states of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Maine have strong historical connections with Louisbourg. Four thousand New Englanders were involved in the first siege and conquest of the fortress in 1744. (Britain handed Louisbourg back to the French in a 1748 treaty but again conducted a siege and conquered it in 1758. British demolition troops blew up the fortifications in 1760.)

Louisbourg was a key factor in North American defence and trade for almost half a century.

Little Hail Reported

Although hail fell somewhere within the Alberta Hail Studies observing area on five days during the week ending August 21st most of it was very small and quite insignificant.

The peak of the hail season is now past and the frequency of storms drops off rapidly during the last week in August. But the crops are now very susceptible to damage and any severe storms that do occur can be disastrous. One of the worst storms last year occurred on August 27th.

The Alberta Hail Studies records show that hail occurs on about five days in September although there is usually not enough moisture in the atmosphere to produce large amounts of big hail. Hail has even been reported as late as October, but by then the farmers aren't too concerned.

THE SMILE BAG

Conventions

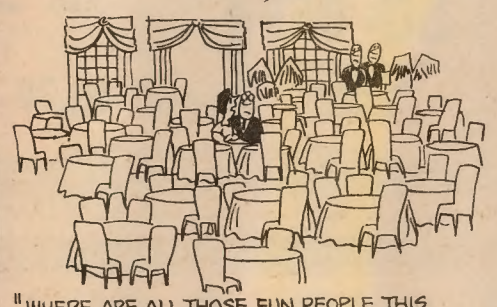
"YOU? CHAIRMAN OF THE HOSPITALITY ROOM? YOU?

"JUST WAIT UNTIL I GET YOU BACK TO OHIO!"



"WHERE ARE ALL THOSE FUN PEOPLE THIS MORNING WHO WERE HAVING SUCH A GAY TIME LAST NIGHT?"

CENTENNIAL DOLLAR

The Canadian dollar bill will have a new look in 1967. Bank of Canada Governor Louis Rasminsky announced that the Centennial symbol and a change of wording will highlight the Centennial currency. The back of the note will feature an engraving of the original Centre Block which was destroyed by fire in 1916.

The special $1 note will be the only one to be circulated in 1967.

Collectors have not been overlooked: a quantity of notes bearing the serial number 1867/1967 will be made available to them.

JUNIOR WARDEN PROGRAM

The Honourable H. A. Ruste, Alberta Minister of Lands and Forests, announces the transfer of administration of the Junior Forest Warden program from Lands and Forests to the new Alberta Department of Youth.

The primary objective of the training program, to impress young minds with the values inherent in the conservation of renewable resources, will remain unchanged by new stewardship.

The movement has grown from three clubs in 1960 (Hinton, Edson and Slave Lake) to thirty-three in 1966, comprising a total membership of over 700 youths.

Water Skiing WITH CLINT WARD

Learning the two ski 180 degree wake turn is easy.

The turn is completed in mid-air after jumping from the wake. Begin in the centre of the wake. Drift over to the edge of the wake and as you reach it, hop into the air and turn from the front to back position in one motion. The approach to the wake should be in a slightly crouched position with the legs bent to allow for the hopping action. As the turn is begun, keep the handle in close to the small of the back. Head up—do not look at the water.

These are common errors. Cutting too hard at the wake—just drift to it. Jumping too high or too far out—a quick hop and turn is all that is required. Turning the wrong direction—there is a short and a long way to turn—always learn the short way. Turn away from the wake going out and the opposite direction coming back.

Feel for the lift of the wake as you drift back toward it and then hop up and turn around to the front, keeping the arms slightly bent and the handle in close to the body.

Mrs. Bea Cropley.
Correspondent

Mrs. Lester Cropley and Myrnitta left last week to visit her mother and father in Calgary.

On the evening of the 23rd the folks gathered together and headed for the home of Gene and Judy to chivaree them. The evening started with a bang and the din continued until the newlyweds got up and let everyone in. A very good time was reported.

On Friday night the P.H. Lifeliners had a weiner roast following a sing-song and short message. The side led by Cameron Campbell who were the losers in a recent contest, treated the winners whose leader was Rodney Barrett. It was a lovely evening and everyone enjoyed the bonfire and the games.

Mr. and Mrs. Gil Martin took their boys on a trip to Elk River last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barrett and Claudette spent Thursday in Edmonton doing some shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boyes from Toronto spent a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Martin and other relatives in the district.

Terry and Darlene Gavigan from Peace River were visiting the Gavigans and Haights over the weekend.

In spite of the rain there was a nice crowd gathered at Gene and Judy's on the evening of the 27th to shower the young couple with gifts. Welcome to our community Judy, we hope you will like it here.

BACK TO WORK

Mr. Lin Johnston arrived home recently from Penticton, B.C. where he has been spending his vacation visiting with relatives and enjoying the hot weather.

Elephants sleep only a couple of hours a night.

Buck Creek News

Mrs. Gladys Stec,
Correspondent.

A farewell party held recently at the community hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kent, had one of the largest gatherings of Buck Creek people that have turned out in quite some time. They were presented with a combination writing desk as a remembrance of the community. The Kents have spent approximately the last six years in Buck Creek and are now making their home in Stony Plain.

Visiting friends and relatives in the district for a few days last week, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Janashewski and family of Slave Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Steffensen and Tony accompanied Mr. and Mrs. L. Stec and Mr. and Mrs. J. Stec Sr. on a short camping trip to Jasper recently.

The next community club meeting will be held at the hall September 7th commencing at 8:00 p.m.

I would like to extend the sympathy of the district to Mr. and Mrs. Krist Steffensen and family. Mrs. Steffensen's father, Mr. Ole Spellrum, passed away at Ponoka on Friday, August 19th. Funeral services were held Monday, August 22nd at Ponoka.

Mr. and Mrs. Elof Anderson and Gary were back for a short visit in the district recently.

The community club will be sponsoring a bingo at the hall September 3rd.

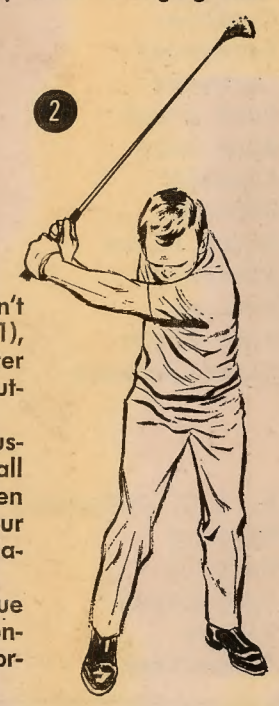
HOW TO REGAIN SWING RHYTHM

More often than not, when a golfer falls into a slump, it is because his swing rhythm has been improperly altered. Whenever you find that you are consistently failing to meet the ball squarely, I suggest you first try to restore a smooth rhythm to your swing.

A good way to regain rhythm is to practice hitting tee shots with your driver, while swinging this club as if it were a 9-iron. Don't give it a full driver swing (No. 1), but rather take a much shorter swing (No. 2) as if you were executing a shot of about 100 yards.



You will find it quite simple, using this technique, to meet the ball squarely. Once this is done, then proceed to gradually lengthen your swing until it becomes of regulation length for a driver.

This simple practice technique will help you regain feel and control of the clubhead, and your normal swing rhythm will return.

Across The Editor's Desk

WHERE HAS SUMMER GONE?

This is a subject that we dislike even thinking about but all signs indicate summer is drawing rapidly to a close -- what little of it we had.

Crops are maturing quickly and with a few more days of the kind of weather we enjoyed last week, harvesting will soon be in full swing. The ripening crops and first tinges of autumn colors sprinkled among the forest greens are early reminders that fall is not far off.

Football uniforms on boys around town point to the lateness of the season and with the swimmers its pool today--school tomorrow. The swimming pool closes and young people head back to the halls of learning on the same fateful day--Thursday, September 1st.

Fall's approach turns our thoughts to the fortunate editors of Arizona and New Mexico weeklies who can spend the winter months gazing out the office window at the tourist gals strolling by on their long sun-tanned legs and painted toenails.

But winter isn't here yet and the balmy sunshiny days of September and October would make us soon forget the liquid sunshine of July and August.

MOVING DAYS

We're in the throes of moving this week and again I'm flabbergasted at the accumulation of junk. Each of three moves in the past three or four years was highlighted by a gala trip to the garbage dump with 2017 pounds of expendables and we might even beat the record with this year's move.

The weekend should see the move completed and we can relax and contemplate the acres of bare dirt awaiting the tender touch of the gardener to bring forth its profusion of delicate blooms and lush lawns.

The other half of the matrimonial partnership (Frankie) has on occasion in the past commented rudely on my green thumb efforts so this time I think I'll leave the landscaping to her. But don't think I'm not going to help--Oh no! I'll show her where to hang the hammock.

FOR WHAT IT'S WORTH

Halley's Comet - the once every 75 years visitor is due back in 1986. The last appearance of the fiery comet which passed close to the earth in the early 1900's touched off a wave of terror and predictions about the end of the world.

In the centuries before modern astronomy the appearance of the comet was considered a portent of great calamity on earth. Shortly before the Battle of Hastings in 1066 the comet appeared and you know the result--Harold got an arrow in the eye and William the Conqueror got the English crown.

We're passing this along now so you will have 20 years to think about it.

CABINET MEETINGS

Members of the Alberta Cabinet will hold committee meetings in sixteen communities throughout the province from September 6th to 16th, according to an announcement last week by Hon. E.C. Manning. On September 8th, the Hon. R. Reierson (Chairman), Hon. A. Holowach, Hon. A.O. Fimrite, Hon. H.E. Strom, and Hon. H.A. Ruste will meet in Whitecourt and Edson.

CANADA'S CENTURY

The Prairies Pay Off John A. Macdonald's Reluctant Investment

(Tenth Of A Series)

By WALT McDAYTER

When Canada bought Rupert's Land from Hudson's Bay Company in 1869 for £300,000, Prime Minister John A. Macdonald was far from convinced that he was making a wise investment.

In fact, a few years earlier, he had disclosed in a letter, "I would be quite willing, personally, to leave that whole country a wilderness for the next half century, but I fear if Englishmen do not go there, Yankees will."

And so, Canada's first prime minister purchased the western prairies with a dog-in-the-manger attitude. He didn't particularly want the west, at that time at least, but committed Canada to its purchase rather than let the Americans have it. One of the objectives stressed in Confederation was to protect the prairies from American annexation.

The reasons for Macdonald's lack of enthusiasm were many. As a fledgling nation, Canada had little finances for western expansion. Also, Macdonald feared Canada would meet rebellion in the west from three groups — the plains Indians, the half-breed Metis (who in 1869 and 1885 did rebel under Louis Riel's leadership), and the newly-arrived Americans. But even more significant was the fact that at the time of the purchase the economic potential of the prairies looked poor indeed.

Apart from a few fur-trading forts pock-marking the plains, there was little settlement. The descendants of Lord Selkirk's Red River settlement, and a small number of French-Canadians and half-breed Metis around St. Boniface, were doing some farming, but they depended more on buffalo meat for their food than on agriculture.

Norm Drew

Fearing that the new Canadian government was going to force his fellow Metis off their land, Louis Riel led two rebellions in the west. He was hanged at Regina on Nov. 6, 1885.

With the province of Manitoba created in 1870, however, the outlook became more promising. Thousands of settlers from Britain, Canada and the U.S., lured by the Free Land Homestead Act of 1872, began to flood into the newly-acquired Canadian prairies.

Some found prairie life too hard. They gave in, packed their few possessions, and with heads bent, returned to an easier life in the east.

Others stayed. At the turn of the century, prairie population reached 400,000. By 1931, it swelled to almost 2½ million, in the process creating two great new provinces, Saskatchewan and Alberta, in 1905.

Yes, the west was growing. And with it, Canada's prosperity grew, too. Thanks to the rich prairie soil, wheat soon was playing a vital role in Canada's economy.

By 1921, it had become our most valuable export, representing more than 25 per cent. of our entire export trade.

It had not taken the prairies long to repay in full the investment reluctantly made by John A. Macdonald in 1869.

EVANSBURG NEWS

Mrs. M. Bruner, Correspondent

Well, am certainly glad we have no family accidents to report this week, although we are sorry to hear that Dickie Bjiornstad is still suffering from injuries sustained in a car accident last week.

The new village hall is nicely taking shape. At the rate building is going on it shouldn't be too long before it will be done.

Mr. Guy Dompnier's batching days are over as Mrs. Dompnier and children have returned from a family visit to Eastern Canada.

Out of province visitors to the community are Mr. and Mrs. J. Mazeppa from Alder Grove, B.C.

The Mazeppa home has been extra full of visitors lately with everyone visiting from Edmonton and Mrs. Eshpeter and boys visiting from Lodgepole on their way to their new home at Swan Hills.

The Pembina 4-H Field Crops Club held their plot tour recently. Mr. Lowe and Mr. Newcombe from Stony Plain along with some of the members and some parents toured the various plots which were judged. Highest marks for rod row plot went to Ted Bruner with Caroline and Larry Rosadiuk next and Allan Mazeppa's right close to theirs. The bigger acre plots were very nice too. Now the members, in conjunction with other local 4-H Clubs will be planning their annual banquet and awards night.

New faces are being seen around the village as members of the new teaching staff arrive to begin their year of teaching. A face that is new this fall but has been here before is Mr. Ken Jensen who will handle the sports program in the high school.

Restoration of Fort Walsh

Partial restoration of Fort Walsh, the old headquarters of the North West Mounted Police, situated 35 miles southwest of Maple Creek, Saskatchewan, is the RCMP's Centennial project.

Commissioner G.B.McClellan says that the fort has already undergone some reconstruction and Centennial plans call for the partial rebuilding of the 91 year old fort's palisade, a replica of the senior NCO's barracks and mess, two trading posts, as well as picnic sites in the area.

The fort was used by the North West Mounted Police from 1878 to 1882 during an Indian unrest in the area and was abandoned when Sitting Bull and 3,000 American Indians returned to the U.S.

4-H Clubs 'Selling' Farm Safety

A survey completed earlier this week by the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs revealed that members of 4-H in Canada have sold over 16,000 slow moving vehicle signs during the past eighteen months.

L. J. Murphy, Hamilton, President of the Canadian Council on 4-H Clubs stated recently, "The problem of the slow moving vehicle on the highway is mounting. Canada's farm community is becoming increasingly concerned about this critical trend and fatalities resulting from accidents between slow farm vehicles and faster moving highway traffic." Mr. Murphy lauded 4-H Club members for their initiative and substantial contribution toward farm safety education through the distribution of the signs.

The slow moving vehicle sign has been adopted by provincial farm safety organizations and the Nation Safety League of Canada as positive identification of farm vehicles to approaching motorists. It is considered one of the most effective means of reducing farm accidents on the highways.

Neptune Club News

On August 16, 1966, approximately ten cars loaded with swimmers and their respective parents headed for Edson. The Edson swim club held their annual swim meet on that day.

This time it showed indeed how much our swimmers have improved over the past two years. Hinton won the meet, Drayton Valley was second and Edson was third.

Our swimmers worked hard and it finally showed what a little bit of hard work can do for a person. In fact it is my feeling that, if the adult members of the Hinton club had not participated, it might have been a tie for first place. Well done boys and girls. Furthermore, I hereby wish to thank all the parents that came with us to Edson to cheer us on and to help us with the transportation.

This is the end of the season and the executive of the swim club hereby wishes to thank everybody for their help during this 1966 season. In particular Mike Gormley, who was our li liason with the Recreation Board. Also our thanks to all the swimming pool staff, expecially Ken Mickey who took a large part of the training program on his shoulders.

Our yearly meeting will be held soon and notice will be given about the time and the place within the next few days.

Once again our thanks to all that have assisted during the season. See you next May (1967) in the pool.

F.H. deGeest,
President.

Forests Open For Pulp, Paper Studies

FMC Corporation of Philadelphia has advised Alberta's Minister of Lands and Forests, Hon. H.A. Ruste, that is relinquishing the one year exploration permit, granted by the Alberta Government last September. The permit provided FMC with the privilege of conducting engineering and forestry surveys on an Alberta forest site, with a view to establishing a pulp mill in the Grande Prairie region.

FMC Corporation is a large American based organization dealing in paper, machinery and chemicals. It produces large amounts of viscose material.

As a result of the termination of the permit issued to FMC, Grande Prairie and Peace River forests are open for similar studies by other pulp companies who present proven economic suitability and sound intentions.

Freezing Fruits

Most fruits freeze satisfactorily, but quality will vary with stage of maturity and type of pack. Bananas and pears are not generally recommended for freezing. Prepare only small quantities of fruit at a time (2-3 quarts) especially those that darken rapidly.

Three ways to pack -- flavor and texture are better if syrup or sugar are used. Unsweetened fruits are used for pies, jams, etc., or for special diets.

Sugar pack -- berries and juicy fruits may be sliced, sprinkled with sugar mixed gently until juice is drawn out and sugar dissolved. In general, 1 cup sugar to 5-6 cups fruit is used.

Syrup pack -- slice or cut fruit directly into syrup. Heavy syrup is not recommended, since it does not freeze readily and masks the flavor of the fruit. It takes 2/3 to 1 cup of sugar per pint package of fruit.

Syrups used are: Dissolve and chill beforehand. Thin 1 cup sugar to 2 cups water - yields about 2½ cups. Moderately thin 1 cup sugar to 1½ cups water - yields about 2 cups. Medium 1 cup sugar to 1 cup water - yields about 1½ cups. Honey (or honey and sugar combined, may be used) but remember that honey alters the flavor.

MUCH TO LEARN ABOUT EPILEPSY

Epilepsy is a fairly common disease about which there is still much to learn. It usually consists of seizures in which the patient loses consciousness, his lumbs twitch convulsively and he falls to the ground. He may froth at the mouth and groan. After a minute or so, he may lie relaxed. Placing some object between his teeth will help prevent him from biting his tongue or lips. He may sleep then for an hour or so.
